

Spring 2018 CLA Diversity Symposium Honoring International Women's Day

Thursday, March 1, 2018 • Pebble Hill • 8:00am-1:00pm • Breakfast and Lunch provided

Registration deadline: February 9, 2018

There is NO registration fee - this symposium is free and open to all

Auburn University students and faculty!

To register, visit: cla.auburn.edu/cla/cce/cla-diversity-symposium/

Fill out the application form and return it to clacce@auburn.edu by February 9, 2018

As part of the CLA Diversity Initiative, we invite faculty, undergraduate and graduate students to present papers, posters, or other research projects related to diversity issues and awareness.

This year, the symposium is being held a week before International Women's Day, therefore we especially welcome presentations related to women's studies.

This one-day symposium is organized by the Auburn University Community and Civic Engagement Initiative in the College of Liberal Arts, but is open to any Auburn student or faculty member.

Held in the Caroline Marshall Draughon Center for the Arts & Humanities (Pebble Hill), this symposium will offer the opportunity to collaborate and raise awareness about important diversity issues.

For specific questions, please contact the organizers:
Dr. Giovanna Summerfield, Associate Dean for Educational Affairs (summegi@auburn.edu)
Melani Landerfelt, CCE Graduate Assistant (mrl0021@auburn.edu)

AUBURN UNIVERSITY

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS

Community & Civic Engagement

Auburn University is an equal opportunity educational institution/employer.